

Careers

Our office is only as strong as the people within it and that is why we place considerable emphasis on finding, training and developing the best and brightest young talent ? it is the only way we can guarantee our continued ability to provide the best value and expertise to our clients.

With such a strong focus on Angola?s key industry sectors and on inward investment we require all of our lawyers not only to be technically excellent, and to be able to operate in English at the highest levels, but also to be commercially aware.

As a office we need to understand the dynamics of international business and the drivers behind our clients? investment decisions. We think that having a wider view of the world helps make better, more-rounded lawyers.

If you believe you have the skills, outlook and commitment to be a success at Fátima Freitas Advogados then we would be very keen to hear from you.
